Still No Peace Talks

PARIS (AP) — The United States and South Vietnam today rejected a demand from North Vietnam and the Viet Cong to resume the Vietnam peace talks Thursday.

The allies said the Communists had given no indication that they were ready to negotiate seriously, and they still sought a military solution to the war.

City Inks Bug Tax, Computer Rental, Gas Rate Hike

By MARY LOVE BIGONY
Sun Intern

Corsicana City Commissioners Tuesday approved an ordinance levying a special assessment on water customers, a rate hike by Lone Star Gas, and rental of an IBM System-3 computer for city billing.

Commissioners passed the special assessment of 25 cents per water customer per month for a three month period for use in mosquito control during the summer. Revenue from the assessment will total approximately $5,500.

City Manager Jack Russell opened discussion of the ordinance, explaining that funds will be used to buy larvaecide and spray cans to spray along creek areas. Russell said this is expected to be more effective than use of the present fogging trucks alone. The new assessment is planned to begin upon expiration of the special garbage assessment at the end of June.

City Finance and Personnel Director Don Lunday spoke to the Commission in favor of renting an IBM system-3 computer to handle city billing. Lunday said he has examined such systems in other cities which use them successfully. He also explained that adopting the new system would entail no increase in city personnel. The IBM system would have the advantage of four-cycle billing over the two-cycle system presently in use.

City Manager Russell encouraged acceptance of the proposal, and the Commission voted unanimously for its approval.

An upward adjustment of 2.5 per cent for residential and commercial natural gas service by Lone Star Gas was approved by the Commission on its second and final reading, with all Commissioners voting in favor and Mayor Sue Youngblood abstaining.

An ordinance dealing with the expansion of the Plumbing Appeals and Advisory Board to include two heating and air conditioning contractors was passed on the first reading after some discussion.

City Manager Russell told the Commission most home accidents are caused by heating and air conditioning accidents, and he feels these contractors should be included on the Board. If the ordinance passes a second reading at the next Commission meeting, Mayor Youngblood will make appointments to the Board.

Recommendation of a location near Resthaven Memorial Cemetery was approved for a proposed interchange on SH 31 as requested by the Texas Highway Department. Russell told the Commission this location conforms with the City's master plan.

After concluding business on the planned agenda, Arthur Carroll submitted three petitions to the Commission, requesting a street light and stop sign at the corner of S. 9th St. and E. 15th Ave., paving of E. 18th Ave. between S. 1st St. and S. 3rd St., and a fire hydrant on E. 16th Ave. near Melhaven Rest Home.

Mayor Youngblood commended Police Chief Don Massey's "forethought and hard work" in compiling a handbook of rules and regulations for the Corsicana Police Department. The Commission voted unanimously to adopt the manual.

The Mayor also commended Dick Ballenger for his organization of a crew which cleaned Post Oak Creek.

Mayor Youngblood expressed concern over adverse comments regarding the City dog pound, and acting City Attorney Julius Jacobs indicated he expects the newly chartered Humane Society to take some pressure off the Commission.

City Finance and Personnel Director Don Lunday requested approval from Commissioners to invest $84,000 of the Junior League Reserve Fund which is presently uninvested in the First National Bank of Dallas. Approval was granted.

Before adjournment, Mayor Youngblood rescheduled a work session for the wrecker ordinance to June 19.

Ralston Named To Defend Rios

By ROB MECKEL
Sun Staff Writer

The defendant in a murder case which became an issue during the May 6 race for the 13th District Judgeship has a lawyer now after spending nearly three and a half months in the Navarro County Jail waiting for counsel.

13th District Judge James C. Sewell Thursday signed an order dismissing Donald Nicholson as defense attorney for Fabian Rios, Jr., the man accused of murdering his wife on Feb. 13, 1972. In another order, Sewell appointed local attorney W. D. Ralston to defend Rios.

Nicholson was appointed March 6 by Sewell to defend Rios because the defendant said he could not hire his own attorney. After learning that he had been appointed to defend Rios, Nicholson said he could not and would not accept the responsibility of defending Rios or any other person to be tried for a death penalty offense before Judge Sewell due to the political race then in progress. Nicholson was an opponent against Sewell for the position as 13th District Judge.

After he won the election, Nicholson still contended that he was not in a position to defend the murder case. Thursday, at 11:30 a.m., he filed a motion in the office of the 13th District Clerk asking to be removed as attorney of record for the defendant. The motion stated that the attorney "is not engaged in the practice of law before this court at this time, nor does he expect to engage in the practice of law before this court in the immediate future."

The order dismissing Nicholson from the case was filed at 11:31 a.m. Thursday. The order appointing Ralston to the case was filed at 4:40 p.m. Thursday.

Rios was arrested after walking into the county jail and surrendering to authorities. He is in jail on $10,000 bond set after he was indicted.

Court Delays City Action About Judge

By MARY LOVE BIGONY
Sun Intern

Upon advice from acting city attorney Julius Jacobs, City Commissioners refrained Tuesday from planned discussion dealing with the termination of Municipal Judge Fred Upchurch and appointment of a new judge.

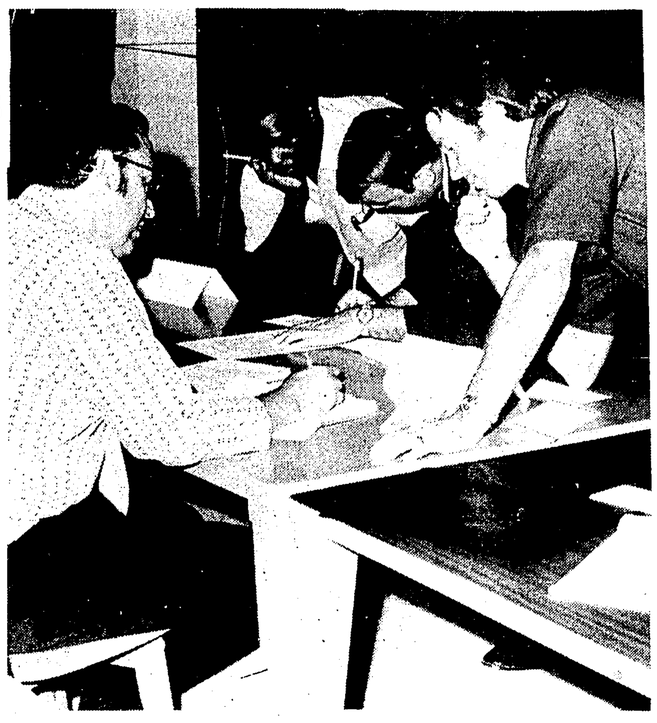

Upchurch was fined $100 in Navarro County Court March 24 on a charge of driving while intoxicated. He pleaded "nolo contendere" to the charge. The Commissioners have been discussing dismissal of Upchurch for his conduct both on and off duty.

Mayor Sue Youngblood informed commissioners they had been served with a temporary restraining order to prevent termination of Upchurch at Tuesday's meeting. Commissioner Bob Scott, who had entered the meeting late, asked Jacobs if he could take any action since he had not yet been served. Scott was told that since he now had been notified of the restraining order he could not take action.

Jacobs explained that Upchurch had been granted a temporary restraining order Tuesday morning to present the City Commission and mayor from holding a meeting on his termination. "Unless you want to chance going to jail," said Jacobs, "I think you will not want to consider at this meeting the termination of Judge Upchurch." He explained that a hearing on the restraining order is set for June 14 in District Court.

Commissioner John Carlock favored proceeding with the discussion despite the restraining order. Scott asked Jacobs about the penalty for violation of the injunction and was told the maximum was $100 fine and three days in jail.

"In other words," asked Carlock, "if there's a motion made today, we're in contempt?" Jacobs confirmed this and Carlock said, "Well, I'm not going to be in contempt."

County Election Winners Are Happy

County candidates elected in the Democrats second primary election Saturday voiced predictable pleasure today concerning the results and the number of voters who went to the polls.

J. A. (Junior) Penney of Corsicana, who defeated Clinton J. Bell for the position of Pct. I County Commissioner, said, "I was well pleased and the voter turn-out was more than I had expected. It shows me the people really care about county and state government because in the second primary they don't usually do that."

Penney will take office Jan. 1, 1973. He said he plans to attend some of the County Commission meetings before taking office to position. He intends to attend a required 40-hour course for peace justices sponsored by Texas A&M for peace justices. If possible, he said, he will take it before November.

"I want to thank all the people who helped me and there were a lot of friends who helped me," he said.

The newly-elected Navarro County Sheriff, Jerry Shelton, was working and could not be contacted for comment today. He defeated incumbent Rufus Pevehouse in the Saturday election.

Incumbent Ellis Montgomery who defeated Wallace Pryor for the position of Pct. 3 County Commissioner, also could not be contacted today.

learn more about duties of the office. He said he spoke Sunday with the man now holding the office, Homer McNabb, who offered to show him around "about what's going on."

No plans for changes are planned by Penney for Precinct I at this time, according to Penney.

"I will have to acquaint myself with what is being done," he said.

The winner of the Pct. I, Place 2 Justice of the Peace race, G.W. (Dub) O'Neal, said the victory did not come as a surprise.

"I had to have the feeling that I was going to win," he said.

O'Neal will take office after the November election. He said he plans to learn as much as possible about the office before actually taking charge of the

Navarro Oil Wells Heavy Producers

DALLAS—Texas crude oil production in 1971 topped 1 billion barrels for the seventh consecutive year as reserves fell toward the 13 billion barrel mark, according to a study by the Texas Mid-Continent Oil & Gas Assn.

Texas oil wells produced 1,210,818,658 barrels last year, bringing the state's 82-year production total to 35.3 billion barrels. Reserves dropped 172,000 barrels.

"With producers unable to increase drilling activities, additional oil supplies in Texas hinge on recovering more oil from existing fields," Robert A. Buschman, Association president, commented. Secondary recovery units in Scurry County contributed a major protion of the county's 5.5 million barrel increase in 1971, which jumped the county to No. 1 in Texas.

Navarro County oil wells have produced 190,979,965 barrels since recorded production began in 1895. The county in 1971 produced 4,156 barrels a day for a total of 1,516,912 barrels.

Ellis County wells have produced 616,040 barrels since recorded production began in 1953. The County in 1971 produced 14 barrels a day for a total of 4,939 barrels during the year.

Freestone County oil wells have produced 33,036,157 barrels since production began in 1916. The county in 1971 produced 534 barrels a day for a total of 194,770 barrels.

Hill County oil wells have produced 9,393 barrels since production began in 1949, but no production was recorded in 1971.

Limestone County wells have produced 11,642,233 barrels since production began in 1920. The County produced 542 barrels a day in 1971 for an annual total of 197,814 barrels.

And Henderson County wells have produced 67,759,886 barrels since production began in 1934, with 25,512 barrels a day during 1971 for a total of 9,311,801 barrels.

Fourteen Texas counties produced more than 25 million barrels last year. The top three were Scurry, 73 million barrels; Ector, 69 million barrels; and Andrews, 67 million barrels.

The top three counties in cumulative production are Gregg, 2.2 billion barrels; Ector, 1.7 billion barrels; and Andrews, 1.5 billion barrels.

Dodgers Draftee Follows Tough Act

NEW YORK (AP) — Bob Lesslie, the No. 1 pick in the secondary phase of the major league baseball draft, is headed for a possible future with the Los Angeles Dodgers carrying two monkeys on his back—Pete Broberg and Burt Hooton.

Broberg, a Dartmouth product, and Hooton, out of the University of Texas, were the 1-2 picks last year in the secondary phase, and by the end of the season were pitching in the majors with Washington, now Texas, and the Chicago Cubs.

Undoubtedly the same will be expected of Lesslie, a 6-foot-3, 210-pound fireballing righthander out of Kansas State University who is headed for Spokane, Wash. of the Northwest League.

Ennis Names New Judge

By GARY EDMONDSON
"Golden Circle" Editor

ENNIS—City Commissioner L. C. Adams resigned his post last night, after serving on the Ennis City Council for eight years and two months, moments before he was appointed to the position of City Recorder. The recorder position is the city judgeship, which has been vacant since the death last month of C. W. Duke.

Adams told the commissioners and mayor that he was "happy to serve with you," and commended them on the way they have been looking after Ennis. Mayor W. D. Murff made the motion to appoint Adams immediately following his resignation at the close of the meeting. Commissioner Jerrell Wingo seconded the motion and the other commissioner present, Willie Love, voiced his approval. Commissioner Raymond Caldwell, who was absent had sent a letter as a proxy vote in favor of the appointment.

In other action the Ennis Council took a firm stand on a building problem Ennis has been having with Sonoma builders; conducted a public hearing on an amendment to the water waste ordinance; set a date for a public hearing regarding the proposed rate hike by Lone Star Gas; and passed two resolution, one commending the people instrumental in the recent centennial celebrations and the other asking the county for financial help when the city's fire trucks make calls into the county.

The difficulty with Sonoma builders has emerged only lately and regards the connection of plumbing lines in Sonoma to the Ennis water and sewage system. To build a house in Sonoma, a contractor must get a building permit from the Ennis suburb. This does not include the water permit that must be issued by the City of Ennis after city inspector's check to see if the water lines are properly built and of the proper substances.

The problem that has arisen in the past few months is that a builder in Sonoma will not approach Ennis for a water permit until after pouring the concrete slab and thus making it impossible for the Ennis inspector to know anything about the plumbing system. In the end the council agreed to approve those requests for water permits in which the builder has not gone too far to make inspection impossible. There were three requests made at the meeting, and at least one of these dealt with a building which already has its concrete slab set.

Described by Murff as a "bad and ticklish situation," the council was visibly concerned about the prospects of damaging their own water supply or angering their neighbors in Sonoma. The unanimous decision followed the thinking of City Manager Kerry Sweatt who had told the commissioners that the inspector would be put on the spot if asked to "approve what he can't see."

The public hearing on the amendment to the waste water ordinance turned out to be a private affair as no one appeared before the council with either questions or complaints. The changes to the ordinance were described by Sweatt as being "of a technical nature," and dealt primarily with setting parameters on the amounts of heavy metals to be allowed to be discharged into the water system without penalty.

Tom Walling of Lone Star Gas, who had appeared at a previous meeting regarding a proposed rate increase, was again present. The council deferred action, however, until after the next regular meeting, which was set for Wednesday, July 5, as opposed to July 3, the first Monday in the month. A public hearing will be called for that meeting to give the townspeople an opportunity to voice their opinions on the matter.

The fire-fighting resolution was passed at the request of a volunteer Association of Firemen in Ellis County. The resolution will be presented to the Ellis County Commissioner's Court along with similar resolutions from the other cities in the county in order to get some financial support from the county for fire-fighting done by city fire trucks.

Sixteen other towns with fire-fighting equipment and the Ellis County Emergency Corps will take part in the project, if approved, and each organization will receive a lump payment of $2500 for the services rendered.

An additional $17,500 would be divided among the counties on a per run basis. This will make the total request of the 17 county fire-fighting groups $60,000 annually to be paid by the county.

Fire Chief D. D. Day told the council "we've been providing the service for a long time, now we're just trying to get the money to pay for it." Day stated further that he had gone to the County Commissioners with Sweatt and with Sweatt's two predecessors and that, dealing with the cities individually, the commissioners give the impression that they "don't much care if the county burns up."

The centennial resolution commended everyone involved on the work and effort expended and singled out the Ennis Chamber of Commerce, Mrs. Katherine Fallen, Mrs. Bill Jones and Fred Rankin for the leadership they provided to the total effort. All commissioners praised the centennial celebration and voiced their agreement to Murff's contention that it "helped bring the people in the community closer together."

Other council action included the sale of two "cannibalized" trucks, without beds or much of anything else, to the M. J. Walker Roofin Company for $105; the designation of June 15 as open house day for the city's newly moved police department; and the approval of Sweatt's request to take a vacation sometime during the latter part of June.

Canvass Adds To Landslide For F. Green

The only substantial change arising from Tuesday's canvassing of the votes from Saturday's run-off election is that Forrest Green picked up an additional 18 votes, thus adding to his already overwhelming victory over Jay Bobbitt.

The extra votes set Green's Navarro County total at 6,229 and gave him an overall total of 9,817 as opposed to Bobbitt's 4,275. Bobbitt's Navarro County total of 1,537 was unchanged.

The sheriff's race is the only contest that saw a change in the totals for both candidates. Winner Jerry Shelton gained six more votes, while defeated incumbent Rufus Pevehouse picked up five more votes. This makes the final total in this race 4,355 to 3,692 in favor of Shelton.

Wallace Pryor lost two votes from his preliminary total in his loss to Ellis Montgomery. This sets the final tally in the race at 1,080 for Montgomery, the incumbent commissioner from the third precinct, and 782 votes for Pryor.

Aubrey Smith, the loser in the Justice of the Peace Pct. I, Place 2 race, gained one vote in the canvass, but his new total of 2,300 is still not enough to overcome G. W. (Dub) O'Neal's winning total of 3,065.

Two candidates running statewide had their vote totals changed. Ralph Yarborough added four votes to his attempt to return to the U.S. Senate. His final Navarro County total now stands at 3,773. The winner in the race, Barefoot Sanders, saw his unofficial total become official at 4,133.

In the gubernatorial contest Mrs. Frances "Sissy" Farenthold lost two votes in Navarro County, and the final county totals show Dolph Briscoe with 5,377 votes and Mrs. Farenthold with 2,580.

The totals in the other races were unchanged from the unofficial totals which appeared in Sunday's Daily Sun. In the Precinct I Commissioner's race, J. A. (Junior) Penney's 1,379 to 746 victory over Clint Bell stands as reported. The other races with the final Navarro County totals are: lieutenant governor, Bill Hobby 3,255, Wayne Connally 4,579; comptroller, James Wilson 3,116, Robert Calvert 4,427; and State Board of Education, Charles Hart 3,066, Mrs. Ronald Smith 4,527.

500 Help Open New Church Sunday at Second Mission

By SYLVIA A. WATERS
Sun Staff Writer

More than 500 persons attended the formal opening of the new Second Mission Baptist Church located at 909 S. 5th St. Sunday.

Rev. Paul Curry, minister of the church, greeted Mayor Sue Youngblood and church contractor Emmett Dosser.

Guest speaker for the opening was Larry L. Polk, minister of the First Independent Baptist Church.

The choir from the First Independent Baptist Church accompanied on the piano by Mrs. Alva Smith presented several selections.

Guest speakers from local Corsicana churches included Rev. I. C. Timberlake, pastor of Wesley Chapel C.M.E. Church and Rev. E. C. Davis, pastor of Mt. Olive Baptist Church.

Words of encouragement were given by E. L. Washington, principal of Lincoln Elementary School, Ralph Brown and E. J. Rains.

The new $42,000 Second Mission Baptist church was built at the site of the old church.

After the church opening, souvenir programs giving the history of the church were distributed to the large crowd.

Second Mission Baptist Church has a history that dates back to 1900 when it began under the direction of the Rev. Simon Davis, known as "Crying Simon," the walking missionary and "Uncle Simon".

The first meeting of the congregation was held in a small building called Kelly Chapel.

Between 1913 and 1914, another church, referred to as the Tabernacle Church, was constructed.

Later the name was changed to the Greater Second Mission Baptist Church. Among the deacons in the church at that time were Dick Dean, Bob Carter, Will Johnson and others.

In 1933 the church did not have a minister but followed the teachings of missionary and traveling ministers.

Years later Rev. R. T. Pardee was called as pastor and a few years later A. L. Moore, pastored the church.

In 1957, Rev. Paul Curry became the pastor of the church and the deacons at that time included the late Willis Deen, R. W. Wright, the late P.S. Shaw, B. English, the late H. Waller, J. Haynes, the late Ira Thomas, John Carroll, A. B. Butler and J. Blair.

Four Indicted

The 13th District Grand Jury indicted four today.

One indictment was against A. D. Davis on a charge of murder with malice. He is alleged to have shot Robert Hyder April 21, 1972. The complaint against Davis was filed April 22, 1972 by Navarro County Sheriff's Deputy Bryan Dunagan, and the accused was released on $1,000 personal bond set by Pct. I, Place I Justice of the Peace W. H. Tipton.

Other indictments included a charge of burglary filed on Carolyn Hassell for allegedly entering a house controlled by Karen Bell April 24, 1972.

The Grand Jury was excused to reconvene on June 26, 1972.

Aunt Louise

Reverend Eugene Wood, Pastor of the Westminster Presbyterian Church here, his son, Jim, his father, Dr. B. O. Wood of San Angelo and three other men from San Angelo had a more than successful day fishing Memorial Day at Rockport, Texas. Their guide, Willie Close, took them to Mesquite Bay where the six men hauled in three hundred speckled trout in about five hours. Mr. Close has been a fishing guide for over thirty years.

Reverend Wood also said that his son, Jim and wife Amelia, were leaving last Friday for Ft. Rucker, Alabama. Jim will be there for three months training in Active Reserve in the U.S. Army in which he is a Commissioned 2nd Lieutenant.

Mr. C. C. Crowson, Whiteselle Brick & Lumber Company, said he was leaving many happy memories at 301 E. 5th Avenue. After thirty eight years they are moving to their new location over the weekend, 301 E. 3rd Avenue. GOOD LUCK!

We ran into L. B. Sparkman (whom many people have asked about) at Sparkman's Bait & Tackle the other day. We were so glad and excited to see him that we forgot to ask about Big Bob. Smile.

We'd like to welcome Sue and Mike Foster, Austin, to Corsicana and Roane for a few days visit.

Dear Aunt Louise, "Say, I am writing you to commend you on having such a good strong boy on the Daily Sun paper route. Now, Aunt Louise, he is like Herculese, so strong he goes in a car and he can throw the paper on top of the house, in trees, on top of tall hedges. Once in a great while he can throw it on the front porch.

"Now, I have arthritis of the spine and I was unable to climb up on top of the house, etc.

"We enjoy your column, in fact the entire paper, so much and I am wondering if you'd publish this. Maybe they are young and don't take time to think about folks like me." Name witheld by request.

I do not know if the boys on the paper routes read this column or not. Perhaps their parents could bring it to their attention. I DO know that people want their paper. You should be in the office if it happens to be a bit late and hear this phone ring. Boys! Save your STRONG ARM for Little League. Maybe you will hit a home run. O.K.?

George Ed Meredith sent a cute little story the other day .... First of all he was thanking me for putting in the story he sent about the cow ringing his doorbell. Anyway, his other amusing story went like this. "I started to Corsicana early one morning in my car and I met an ole friend and he flagged me down and asked me to park my car off of the highway and for me to go to Big D with him on a trip. And we made it back in 4 hours.

"So, I decided to continue my own trip to Corsicana. I was on Highway 75, making average time in general traffic, and just across Chambers Creek going uphill I thought I heard a siren—and I hit the grader ditch. Motorists went by, one-by-one, but no vehicle went by that even had a siren on it. All the traffic cleared out and I got back on the highway to continue my journey.

"Away on close to the Golf Center, the siren-sound came forth again and my car was the only moving vehicle on the highway. So, I carefully pulled off the pavement to make an examination of my ole rattle box. I felt of every wheel, brake, and every other movable part. I raised the car hood to see if the fan or the generator was the trouble when my aged vision got a vivid picture of a grown housecat in a basket securely tied with hay wire, smack-dab on the top of the car engine ... The hot air from the exhaust made that ole cat meow loud like a siren.

"The same proverb that adult men may grow up mentally, but they still play pranks on people, came to my mind. I put the cat in my trunk and I did not go to town, instead I went back home and the gossip bench was huddled up.

Everybody had a straight face—nobody even grinned. But I was being eyed for my actions when I got out of my own car. I unlocked my car trunk and took the basket out with the ole blue Maltise housecat resting comfortably—not a bit excited. I simply asked if I could sell them a housecat. I made a big, boisterous laugh and thanked them nicely. I turned the cat loose and it went home to its rightful owner."

The Golden Rule is the best rule to follow; A Right never wrongs anyone!

Of course, he asked about the twins as they had met him when they hauled hay.

He added one more saying that goes like this...The Deaf Pedestrian May Read—SMARTY HAD A PARTY.

Respectively,
George Ed Meredith

Dr. and Mrs. Orlando Heros and daughter, Samara, will be here June 17 from their home in Ft. Lauderdale, Fla. for a visit with local friends. The former Corsicanans plan to be in the area approximately a week.

The 1970 U.S. Census revealed that some 9.23 million Americans, about 5 per cent of the total population, identified themselves as having an origin (by birth or descent) in a Spanish-speaking land, The World Almanac notes. Spanish-speaking Americans are the second largest minority group in the country and Spanish is the second most commonly spoken language in the nation.

Dawson Tables Gas Hikes Okays $1 Business Permit

By LARRY WARRINGTON
Sun Staff Writer

Members of the Dawson city council voted to dispense with the reading of the minutes and get down to the business of discussing gas rates, business permits, delinquent taxes and sewage developments in their regular meeting Tuesday night.

M. J. Kuykendall, service representative for the Hubbard district of the Lone Star Gas Company, was on hand to answer the council's many questions concerning the requested ten per cent raise in natural gas rates. After clarifying many points dealing with the new price fixing arrangement — which allows the company to also adjust rates up to 65 per cent of the cost change of raw gas at the well without further agreement by the council — Kuykendall was queried on many points in connection with legalities and stipulations of the contract.

Mayor Raley pointed out that while the information sheet distributed by Lone Star Gas cited property holdings in Dawson amounting to $93,705.12 as part of the cost of gas services, Lone Star is paying city taxes on an evaluation of $13,500. Raley also quoted a notice he had received from the city of Lewisville, which is appealing the rate hike, as saying the figures given are blown out of proportion and requesting other cities to appeal the matter to the Railroad Commission.

Kuykendall replied that he had been assured the figures were correct and would hold up in court. The council tabled the agreement until a later date, as sixty days are allowed before action is required by the Railroad Commission.

Raley brought up the fact that the city of Dawson at present does not issue business permits. He said there is need for these, not for the purpose of revenue but to give the City a record of the businesses being operated there. He suggested that the fee for the documents be one dollar and they be renewed on a three-year basis. After discussion the motion was raised and passed.

Another important issue was the long list of delinquent taxes. Council members voted affirmatively on two motions concerning the collection of these, one dealing with the retaining of Robert Jackson as city delinquent tax lawyer, the other changing the definition of delinquent taxes from meaning those three years old to those only one year overdue. Jackson is to receive fifteen per cent of taxes collected in return for his services.

Plans for much work to be done to the City sewage system were made Tuesday night. Prior plans for the completion of a sewer line in downtown Dawson were changed to accommodate a better system. Water Superintendent W. R. Hale was granted the request made on behalf of a resident to have the main sewer line extended approximately 100 feet to tie in with the man's mobile home.

It was agreed to hire a surveyor to check out the land in Farmersville, a predominatly black community near Dawson, before laying sewer lines there. Hale said he had been taking estimates of the cost of materials required for the project.

Other matters discussed included hiring summer help to mow city property and assist in other areas of maintainance, adding the cost of mowing private lots to the individuals' city taxes, and the installation of a charge for the removal of dead animals from private property.

The meeting was concluded with the agreement to pay all City bills without reading them individually. The process was left up to the secretary.

Kerens Incident Draws 20 Years

The second of two suspects charged with armed robbery of a Kerens service station on Nov. 11, 1971 was sentenced to a 20-year prison sentence Friday in 13th District Court.

James Weldon Washington, 21, pled guilty before 13th District Judge James C. Sewell. His attorney is Jack K. Smith of Corsicana. District Attorney Jimmy Morris was prosecuting attorney.

The other man involved in the incident, Elbert Elmer Kelly, 23, of Corsicana, was found guilty of armed robbery by jury trial on May 25, 1972.

The two men were accused of robbing the Kerens service station operated by R.M. Sharrer. During the incident, the elderly attendant was struck over the head with a soft drink bottle, then shot in back of the head with a .22 calibre pistol. Sharrer was a key witness in the trial leading to Kelly's conviction.

Blue Cheese Works Biscuit Magic

By AILEEN CLAIRE
NEA Food Editor

Blue cheese found its way into the eating habits of many millions as an integral part of a salad dressing. It also makes a filling and healthful dessert when served with a tasty apple or pear and crackers. Those who especially enjoy the tangy taste of Danish blue cheese will want to use it in making biscuits including bacon and buttermilk. These biscuits go well with a summer barbecue or a summer brunch.

BLUE CHEESE BISCUITS

4 strips crisp bacon, crumbled
2 cups unsifted all-purpose flour
3 teaspoons baking powder
½ teaspoon salt
2 tablespoons instant minced onion
⅓ cup firmly packed Danish blue cheese
¼ cup vegetable shortening
¾ cup buttermilk

Mix crisp bacon, flour, baking powder, salt and onion. Cut in blue cheese and shortening until particles are like small peas. Stir in buttermilk to form a soft sticky dough. Place dough on a floured board and knead several times to make a smooth ball. Roll dough to ½-inch thickness and cut into 2-inch rounds, using a cookie cutter. Place on ungreased cookie sheet and bake in a preheated 450-degree oven for 12 to 15 minutes. Serve hot, with butter. Makes 14 two-inch biscuits.

Let the Cook Have a Vacation, Too

By AILEEN CLAIRE
NEA Food Editor

Family camping takes many forms in all parts of the country. Some families go the tent-and-no-conveniences route. Others drive mobile campers and pull in to campsites with electricity, recreation buildings and hot-and-cold showers. Whatever the choice, cooking continues to be the chore of a housewife really not on vacation when it comes to feeding appetites whetted by outdoor activities. Many women find the new cooking magic bags for roasting, boiling, freezing and reheating with little cleanup make the "vacation" job much easier.

COOKING MAGIC CHILI

- 4 cups water
- 1 teaspoon cumin
- 1 tablespoon onion flakes
- 1 teaspoon Worcestershire sauce
- ½ teaspoon garlic salt
- 2 tablespoons chili powder
- 1 teaspoon black pepper
- 1 tablespoon salt
- 1 teaspoon all-spice
- ½ teaspoons red pepper
- 1 (6 oz.) can tomato paste
- 1½ tablespoons vinegar
- 3 bay leaves
- 1 (15 oz.) can kidney beans
- 2 pounds ground chuck

Mix all ingredients except meat in a 12x18-inch cooking magic bag. Crumble in uncooked meat. Twist tie shut 2 inches from top. Place in a 13x9-inch baking pan. Puncture 5-6 small holes in top of bag. Bake 2 hours in preheated 350-degree oven. Cook. Skim off excess grease. Then freeze flat in 2 serving portions in 8x10-inch cooking magic bags for camping trip. Heat in boiling water, uncovered, for 25-30 minutes to serve.

CHICKEN TETRAZZINI

- ¼ pound fresh mushrooms, cleaned and sliced
- 5 tablespoons butter or margarine, divided
- 5 tablespoons flour
- 2 cups chicken broth
- 1 cup light cream
- Salt and pepper
- 2 cups diced or slivered, cooked chicken
- 1 package (8 oz.) thin spaghetti
- ½ cup grated Parmesan cheese

In a skillet lightly brown mushrooms in 1 tablespoon butter. Remove from skillet and reserve. Melt remaining butter in skillet. Stir in flour. Remove from heat and stir in chicken broth. Cook over medium heat, stirring constantly until smooth and thickened. Add cream. Season to taste. Divide sauce in half. Add chicken and mushrooms to one half. Meanwhile cook spaghetti to the firm stage according to package directions. Drain and stir in the other half of the sauce.

Place in 10x15-inch cooking magic bag in a 2-quart casserole. Turn top open in a double fold. Put spaghetti mixture into casserole. Make a hole in the center of the spaghetti and pour in the cooled chicken mixture. Twist bag close to top of food and secure with twister tie and freeze. To reheat, place bag in boiling water, uncovered, for 25-30 minutes until piping hot. Open bag, sprinkle with grated Parmesan cheese and serve.

County Equalization Set To Begin June 12 In Busy Day's Meeting

By ROB MECKEL
Sun Staff Writer

Navarro County Commissioners Thursday afternoon went back into session after a noon recess and decided to meet June 12 as Navarro County Board of Equalization.

The commissioners went into session during early May as the Board of Equalization, and decided to recess until the month of June. Navarro County Tax Assessor-Collector Jerry S. Scott said he should have his books on land evaluation ready by mid-June.

In other business Thursday afternoon, a bid from Dar Equipment Company was accepted for a motor grader. This bid was for $24,700 with an offer to give $9,900 trade-in on an older machine owned by the County, leaving a net difference of $14,800. The firm also offered a $6,400 cash bid on the old machine.

Another bid on the same type of equipment was submitted by Browning-Ferris Company. It was $29,760 with trade-in offer of $14,400, leaving a $15,360 difference.

Discussion about taxes broadened to another area when Scott asked the commissioners if they had ever collected money from the Mildred School District for having the county tax assessor collect taxes for that school district. County Judge Kenneth Douglas said no.

After further discussion, the commissioners voted to authorize Scott and Pct. I Comm. Homer McNabb to talk to the Mildred School Board president and the superintendent about the tax collection problem.

Scott also mentioned during the meeting that he will soon need another deputy to handle nothing but personal property matters. He said having a person to work in this capacity would increase the tax rolls. No action was taken on the matter.

During the session Thursday morning, business items included granting approval to extend a lease for office space in the courthouse basement to the Stabilization Soil Conservation Service at a cost of $55 per month.

The ASCS asked for a five-year lease, but the commissioners decided to grant the lease only on a year-to-year basis.

The commissioners also voted to make a study of the "horn" (culvert) and road system in Navarro County and compile a list of recommendations for presentation at the July 5 commission meeting. This motion was approved after discussion about whether each precinct commissioner or the entire county should set a policy on the building of "horns" and roads to new subdivisions in the county. Pct. 4 Comm. Billy Hargrove noted in discussion that the people developing should be responsible for providing roads to subdivisions in Navarro County. He said the county precincts should not have to pay for these "horns".

After further discussion, Hargrove moved to approve a plat submitted for 23.578 acres in the Adcock addition to the John Richardson Survey, A-702. The approval is for recording purposes only, and the plat is subject to regulations drawn up at the July 5 meeting.

Another business item was approval for payment of claims Nos. 1857 through 1889.

The commissioners also opened bids for an Ultrasonic Cleaner for Navarro County Memorial Hospital. Bids included Dallas Surgical Supply, $1,275; Medical Rental Service of Corsicana, $1,250; E. H. McClure Company of Dallas, $1,364.27; Stanley Supply Company of Dallas, $1,382; and Herndon Medical and Surgical Supply Company of Waco, $1,360.

By unanimous approval, the commissioners decided to turn the bids over to the hospital board for their consideration.

Blooming Grove, Frost OkayGas Rate Increase

By LARRY WARRINGTON
Sun Staff

Higher gas rates and paving city streets were chief topics in both Blooming Grove and Frost City Council meetings Monday night.

T. J. Boyd, regional office manager for Lone Star Gas Company, and H. E. Timmons, regional superintendent, attended the Blooming Grove meeting to explain the necessity of the rate hike.

In his speech, Boyd explained the method of setting rates, regulation by the Railroad Commission, and the amount of the raise. Boyd said the gas company is only allowed to charge the public 65 per cent of the actual rise in cost to the Lone Star Gas transmission company.

He said besides the double in cost of gas at the well, the company also has to pay more in salaries and for equipment.

The City Council agreed to an over-all rate increase of ten per cent, adding approximately sixty to seventy cents to the average Blooming Grove resident's gas bill.

In Frost, Doyle Mckinney, regional office manager from the Lone Star Gas Company office in Waxahachie, presented the rate increase to the city council and was granted a 9.45 per cent increase.

Billy Hargrove, county commissioner, appeared before the Blooming Grove City Council to discuss paving approximately 17 city blocks. Hargrove reported he had spoken to Ed Riley, a contractor from Belton, on behalf of the people of Blooming Grove, and had received an offer to blacktop streets at a cost of $425 per block. He said the paving would be done on a block-by-block basis and that the work could be stopped at the completion of any block. The City Council voted to accept the bid and blacktopping was to begin later in the week.

Hargrove also discussed with the City Council progress in oiling five blocks of a Blooming Grove street. The City of Blooming Grove and the County are cooperating on the job as the street is used daily by county-operated equipment.

In Frost, Riley is completing work on approximately 12 city blocks. The residents of Frost raised donations to defray pert of the cost, leaving the remainder of the charge to the City Council. The City Council voted to allot funds to pay this charge.

Calvin Fields, Blooming Grove water man, appeared before the council meeting to request an additional job driving school buses. Fields was told to discuss the matter with the School Board and report his findings at a later meeting.

Mayor McGaha announced that after studying the cost to the city of installing water meters in new houses, he found the city was losing money. The council voted to raise the tap charge from the present ten dollars to fifteen dollars.

Before adjourning, the Blooming Grove council discussed payment of some city bills, including cost of operating the new police car.

Apartment Area Cleaned by Boys

A group of about 25 youngsters Saturday participated in a clean-up campaign in the South Park Garden area as a project sponsored by the Southpark Garden Council.

The boys picked up trash and other unsightly material and placed it in a truck to be hauled to the dump ground. After the clean-up campaign, they were served refreshments.

The clean-up campaign was supervised by Archie Hatten, Dan Lawrence and Lawrence Rowe.

Baylor Fills On-Campus Fall Admission Limits

WACO, Tex. (AP) — Baylor University has stopped accepting admission applications from students to live on campus for the 1972 fall semester in expectation of the largest enrollment in the school's history.

Applications from students who will live off campus and applications for admission in the 1973 spring semester will continue to be accepted for consideration, Baylor officials announced.

About 7,500 students are expected to enroll in the university at Waco and in its programs at Dallas and San Antonio. About 6,900 of these will attend the university at Waco.

Total enrollment last fall reached about 7,150. The expected enrollment this fall represents an increase of more than 1,000 students since the fall semester of 1970.

Dr. Alton B. Lee, dean of admissions at Baylor, said the decision to stop accepting applications from students who would live on campus was based primarily on the fact that on-campus housing is filled.

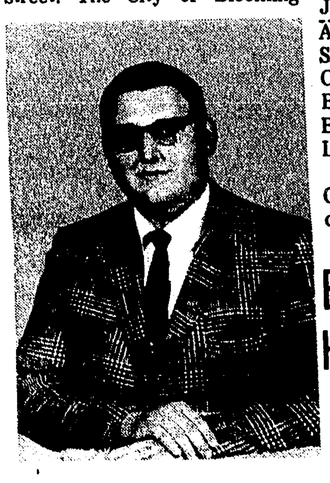

Dr. W. C. Perry, vice president for student affairs, said additional on-campus housing space is unavailable. "We've been almost this crowded before," Perry said. "However, we will have a place for those students already accepted when they arrive in the fall."

Adjustments have been made in the requirements for living on campus in anticipation of the increased enrollment.

Rotary Program Is Announced

Richard Combs, physical therapist at Navarro County Memorial Hospital, will be guest speaker at the Wednesday noon meeting of the Rotary Club. Combs will speak on the aspects of physical therapy.

Rotary members are reminded of the Charter Night Banquet for the Ennis Rotary Club to be held June 17 in Ennis. Roy D. Hickman, president of Rotary International, will be present. Reservations are required at $6 per person.

ED GANZE

Mesquite Teacher, Former Resident, Attends Training

Ed Ganze, science teacher at North Mesquite High School and son of Mr. and Mrs. H. J. Ganze of Powell, attended a meeting in Austin recently for the development of a course to be offered entitled "Environmental Science".

North Mesquite High School is only one of the schools to be selected. The course will be offered in 14 other high schools next fall. The course was planned by the Texas Education Agency, Texas State Department of Health, Texas Water Quality Board, Texas A & M University, Texas Water Utilities Association and Texas Water Pollution Control Association. The course is designed to provide students with a knowledge of the water industry in Texas.

Ganze is a graduate of Kerens High School. He graduated from Navarro Junior College in 1966 and received his B.A. degree from East Texas State University in 1968. He married the former Miss Jane Thompson and they have two children.

Officers questioned people who had been in the vicinity at the time, but obtained no information.

Waxahachie 'Gingerbread Trail' Offers Antiques, Architecture

By GARY EDMONDSON
"Golden Circle" Editor

WAXAHACHIE — Antique fanciers and architecture buffs will descend in force on this Ellis County town today, the last day of the fourth annual Gingerbread Trail. "Gingerbread" is the term used to describe the ornamental trimwork found on many homes here. The trimwork, with no other use but appearance, seems to give some of the houses a look reminiscent of Hansel and Gretel's gingerbread house.

The trail itself winds through town past nearly 80 gingerbread houses and many more equally attractive modern-style structures. The highlight this year, as in years past, will be the several gingerbread houses open to the public. The event is not free, however, as the ticket money ($3.50 per adult for the entire nine homes) benefits the Ellis County Historical Museum and Art Gallery.

The museum itself is housed in a gingerbread house, purchased by the county's historical committee four years ago to house items of interest dealing with the county's history. The museum, too, will be open during the trails, as will several public buildings, including the courthouse, one of the most beautiful courthouses in the state.

"Beautiful" would become a trite word in this account if used every time it applied, since Waxahachie is unmatched in the "Golden Circle" for its quantity of quality architecture. Homes on street after street are strikingly constructed and possess refreshingly different formats. One is neither bored by bricks nor worn out by wood, as the builders seem to indicate that they were more concerned with the over-all appearance, not conformity, of the various neighborhoods.

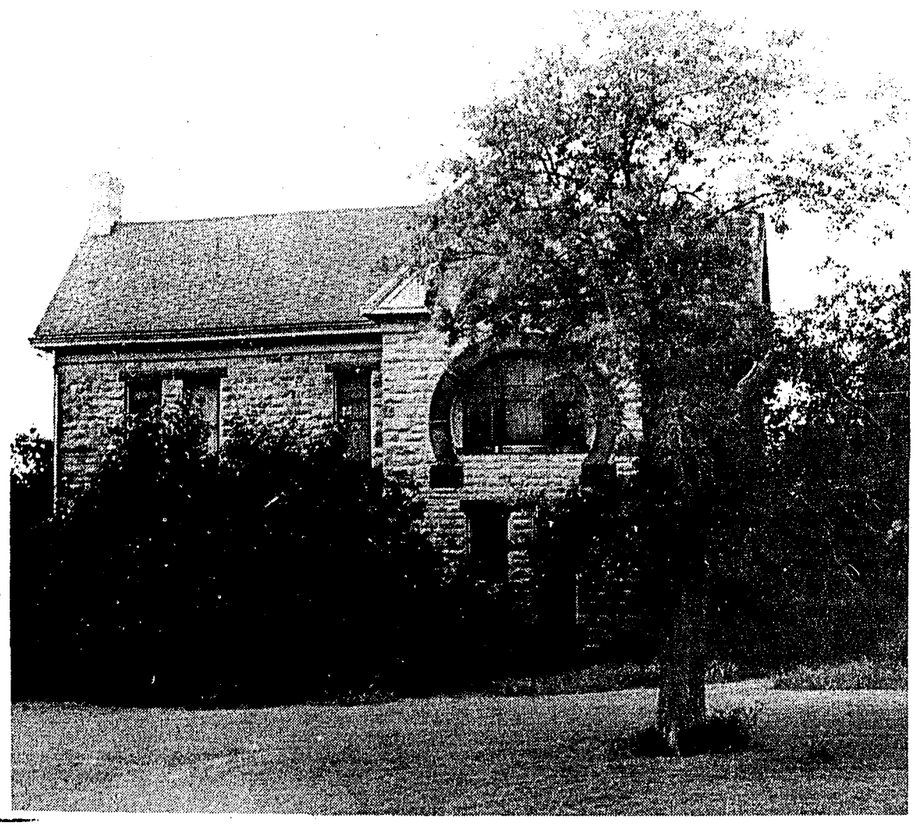

The picture postcard effect of the residential area is further enhanced by the abundance of trees. These are stately old trees that frame the residences — gingerbread and other — in a way that gives each home the atmosphere of a feudal estate along with the relief of the welcome shade.

But—back to the gingerbread houses. Some of the homes are not what the natives call "true" gingerbread. These are ones which have been built since the turn of the century, as opposed to the authentic gingerbread era of the late 19th Century.

Both types of homes are beautiful, and some of the non-gingerbread houses are said to house some of the loveliest antiques. The promise of seeing the antiques usually draws a crowd larger than those inspecting the architecture. In fact, the antique lovers have arrived in such droves in past years that the antique show on the courthouse lawn at the corner of Main and Elm is now a major attraction in itself.

This downtown square will be the center of trail activities. Tickets and maps will be available at a Chamber of Commerce gingerbread house and, as mentioned earlier, the courthouse will be open to visitors.

A trip to Waxahachie would be a restful way to spend any Sunday, especially if one knows the back door route into town from Ennis that avoids the congestion of Highway 287. But a trip today will provide a special treat as you can do more than just pass by some of the prettiest homes in town. You will be welcome, in fact, just as long as you do not eat the house — as you may well be tempted to do.

...But Still Beautiful

The L. D. Johnston home at John Arden Drive and Solon Rd. in Waxahachie is not a real "gingerbread" house, but it is a beautiful example of early architecture. One of the nine homes open during the trail, the Johnston home is located at one of the extremities of the trail but well worth the effort to see. (Sun Staff Photo by Gary Edmondson)

Health Foods Come to Ennis...

By GARY EDMONDSON
Ellis Bureau

ENNIS—The first health food store in the "Golden Circle" has officially opened its doors with grand opening ceremonies featuring City and Chamber of Commerce welcomes. Although "Nature's Emporium", a health food and nutrition center at 205 South Main, has been operating for several weeks, it takes ribbon-cutting scenes to make a store opening official, and it got the formalities Saturday.

The store is owned and operated by Mrs. Nona Brock and Mrs. Doris Brock, both of whom have been avid readers of such natural food advocates as Adelle Davis, Carlson Wade, Linda Clark and Gaylord Hauser. In fact, upon entering the store one can see books by these authors, such as Hauser's "Look Younger, Live Longer".

Mrs. Nona Brock revealed that she first became interested in organic foods two years ago when given a book on the subject. She says that the material sounded "reasonable" and adds that "if I understand it, almost everybody should."

The reasonableness of eating only foods without chemical additives and preservatives led both Mrs. Brocks to make weekly trips to Dallas so they could stock up on natural food, detergents and cosmetics. They noticed that they were not allergic to these natural products and they not only felt better but their skin looked better as a result.

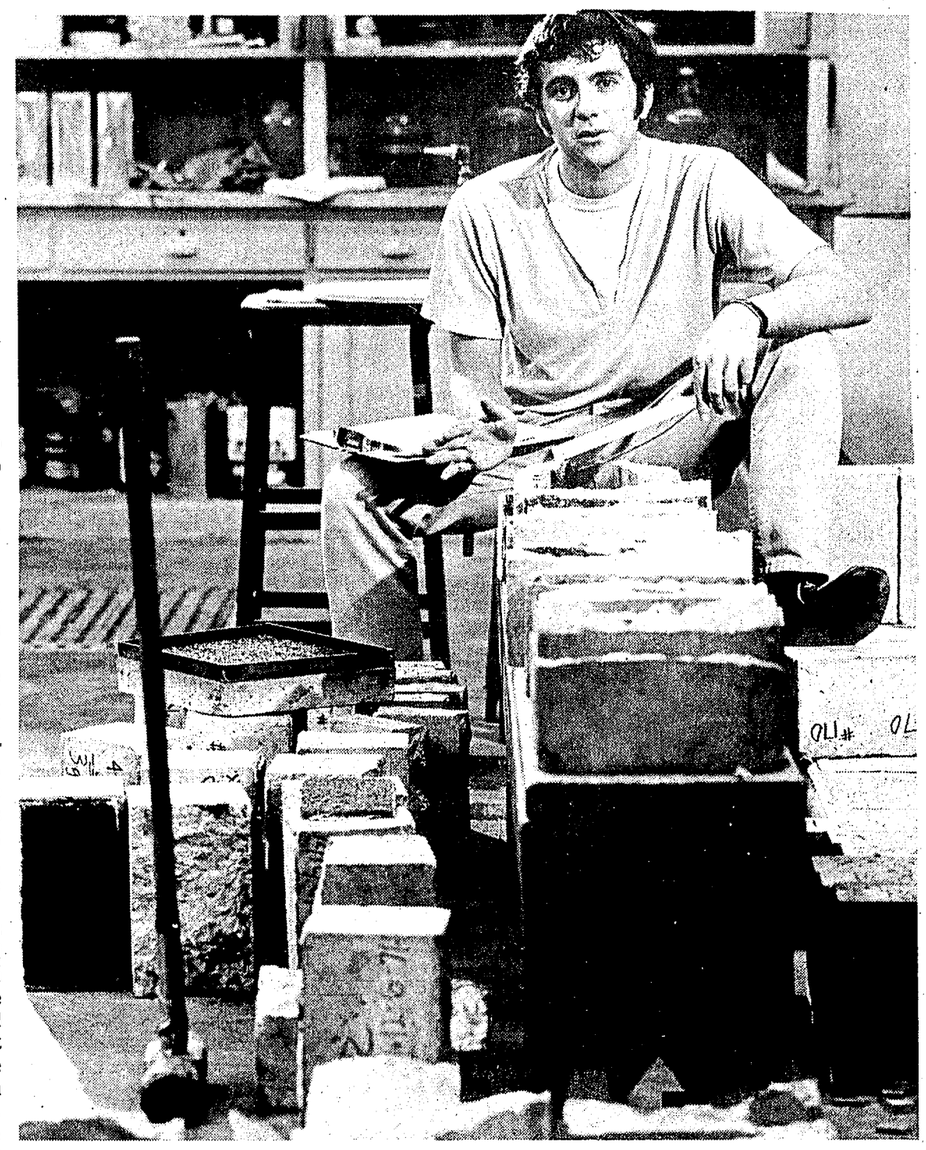

Then, still according to Mrs. Nona Brock, they saw the need to make these products available to the people of the Ennis area. Asked about this "need," Mrs. Brock replied that regardless of "how good" one feels a person always "needs to feel better." She maintains, furthermore, that the way one can feel his best is the natural way.

In explaining the difference between manufactured and natural vitamins, Mrs. Brock used the example of Vitamin E. "When someone makes Vitamin E, that is all there is in the vitamin. But when wheat germ is compressed into a Vitamin E tablet you not only get Vitamin E, but also the trace materials in the wheat germ."

With this in mind, Nature's Emporium includes such food items as 100 per cent whole grain flours, cereals, brown rice, whole grain breads, raw nuts, sun dried fruit and, when the shipment arrives, yogurt. At present there are few organically grown garden vegetables in supply as Mrs. Brock indicates that people now are "not ready for them," elaborating that the small difference in price between organic and non-organic food causes many people to buy the less nutritious non-organic foods.

She also says that some people seem reluctant to admit that the food they are eating now is not as good as it should be. Mrs. Brock, who has seen to it that she is more informed than the average housewife about the food she eats, says that even she was alarmed by the recent disclosures by the Food and Drug Administration such as the number of rodent hairs permissible in canned foods.

Besides the natural foods, Nature's Emporium also stocks natural sweetening agents such as raw sugar, uncooked pure raw honey, and blackstrap and barbados molasses. Also, in the same purifying attitude, the store has natural cleaners which are 100 per cent biodegradable, containing no phosphates or silicates and in strict compliance with environmental requirements.

Now, These Blocks Here

Engineering graduate student Mike McNeil of Corsicana (1536 W. 4th) sits among blocks of concrete used in research being conducted at The University of Texas to improve bridge and highway durability. The work is sponsored by UT's Center for Highway Research.

Corsicana Student Involved In Concrete Research Study

AUSTIN, Texas (Spl.) — At first glance their work may seem minor, but research being conducted by University of Texas engineers has the potential of saving taxpayers millions of dollars a year.

As an added bonus it is aiding in the educational process at UT Austin and will provide spin-off industry for business.

The research is designed to improve the durability of highway concrete and bridge surfaces by putting plastic into concrete.

"Bridges are made of concrete which is a porous material," explains Dr. David Fowler, associate professor of architectural engineering.

"When water seeps into the deck of a bridge and freezes, it begins to break off chips of concrete on the surface. Water also carries salts and other chemicals which may deteriorate the concrete.

"In many areas of the country where salt and sand are used to make frozen bridges safe for travel, the damage created may cost the taxpayer millions of dollars a year for resurfacing," he says, adding:

"Not only is resurfacing expensive but it means at least part of the bridge must be closed to traffic. That is not only inconvenient but it creates a hazard."

So the idea was conceived of filling the pores in concrete with plastic.

Polymer concrete, as it is then called, has no air spaces so there is no place for water to seep in. In addition, it is approximately four or five times stronger than ordinary concrete and is more resistant to abrasive wear.

The problem lies in getting the plastic into the concrete.

In the laboratory, concrete is placed in a vacuum and saturated with the liquid. Then the slab is immersed in water to prevent evaporation and is heated in an oven.

"This might be a method for developing precast polymer concrete beams, but our problem now is how to make it work on a bridge," says Dr. Fowler.

"We can't put a bridge in a vacuum," he explains. "We just have to hope the liquid soaks in far enough. We have to find a way of keeping this very volatile liquid from evaporating before it hardens since we can't put a bridge under water. And we have to find a method of heating it to the temperature required to form a plastic."

Working on the project with Dr. Fowler are Dr. James Houston, assistant professor of civil engineering, and Dr. Donald Paul, associate professor of chemical engineering.

"We work together well," says Dr. Fowler. "Interdisciplinary studies provide for knowledge from several disciplines to be brought to bear on complex problems."

Graduate and undergraduate engineering students are doing most of the actual work on the project.

"The research work these students are doing contributes to their educational process by putting them at the forefront of new developments," Dr. Fowler says.

"The graduate students can use this research as a basis for their thesis projects, and they have the added benefit of being paid for their work," he adds.

Doing research does not increase the salary of faculty members, Dr. Fowler notes.

At best, he can take research relief time which means if an instructor spends one-quarter of his time for research that part of his salary is paid from the grant. The other three-quarters of his salary is paid by the University for his teaching duties.

"Research does help faculty members by allowing them to grow professionally. And in turn they can pass firsthand knowledge of the latest developments on to students in their classes," Dr. Fowler emphasizes.

"We never try to compete with commercial laboratories or institutions," Dr. Fowler says. "Our work is sponsored by UT's Center for Highway Research, which is funded by the Texas Highway Department and the Federal Highway Administration. We want to contribute to the basic knowledge in the field. Then the private sector can put this information to use."

Although the UT research is specifically for highway application, Dr. Fowler points out that the technology may be used in other areas. For example:

"In the long term, sections of concrete may be polymerized in plants and used in building materials."

Whence Named

The original "alamo" is a kind of popular tree, known as the cottonwood tree. The Alamo in Texas, a fortress which was originally a Franciscan mission, got its name because it was located in a grove of alamo trees.

Ball-Point Pens

Impetus for U.S. acceptance of the ball-point pen was a request during World War II by the Army quartermaster general for a writing instrument that would not leak in high altitudes, would use a quick-drying ink unaffected by climatic changes and contain a supply of ink that would last a considerable time, according to Encyclopaedia Britannica.

Retreat Zoning Suit Pending

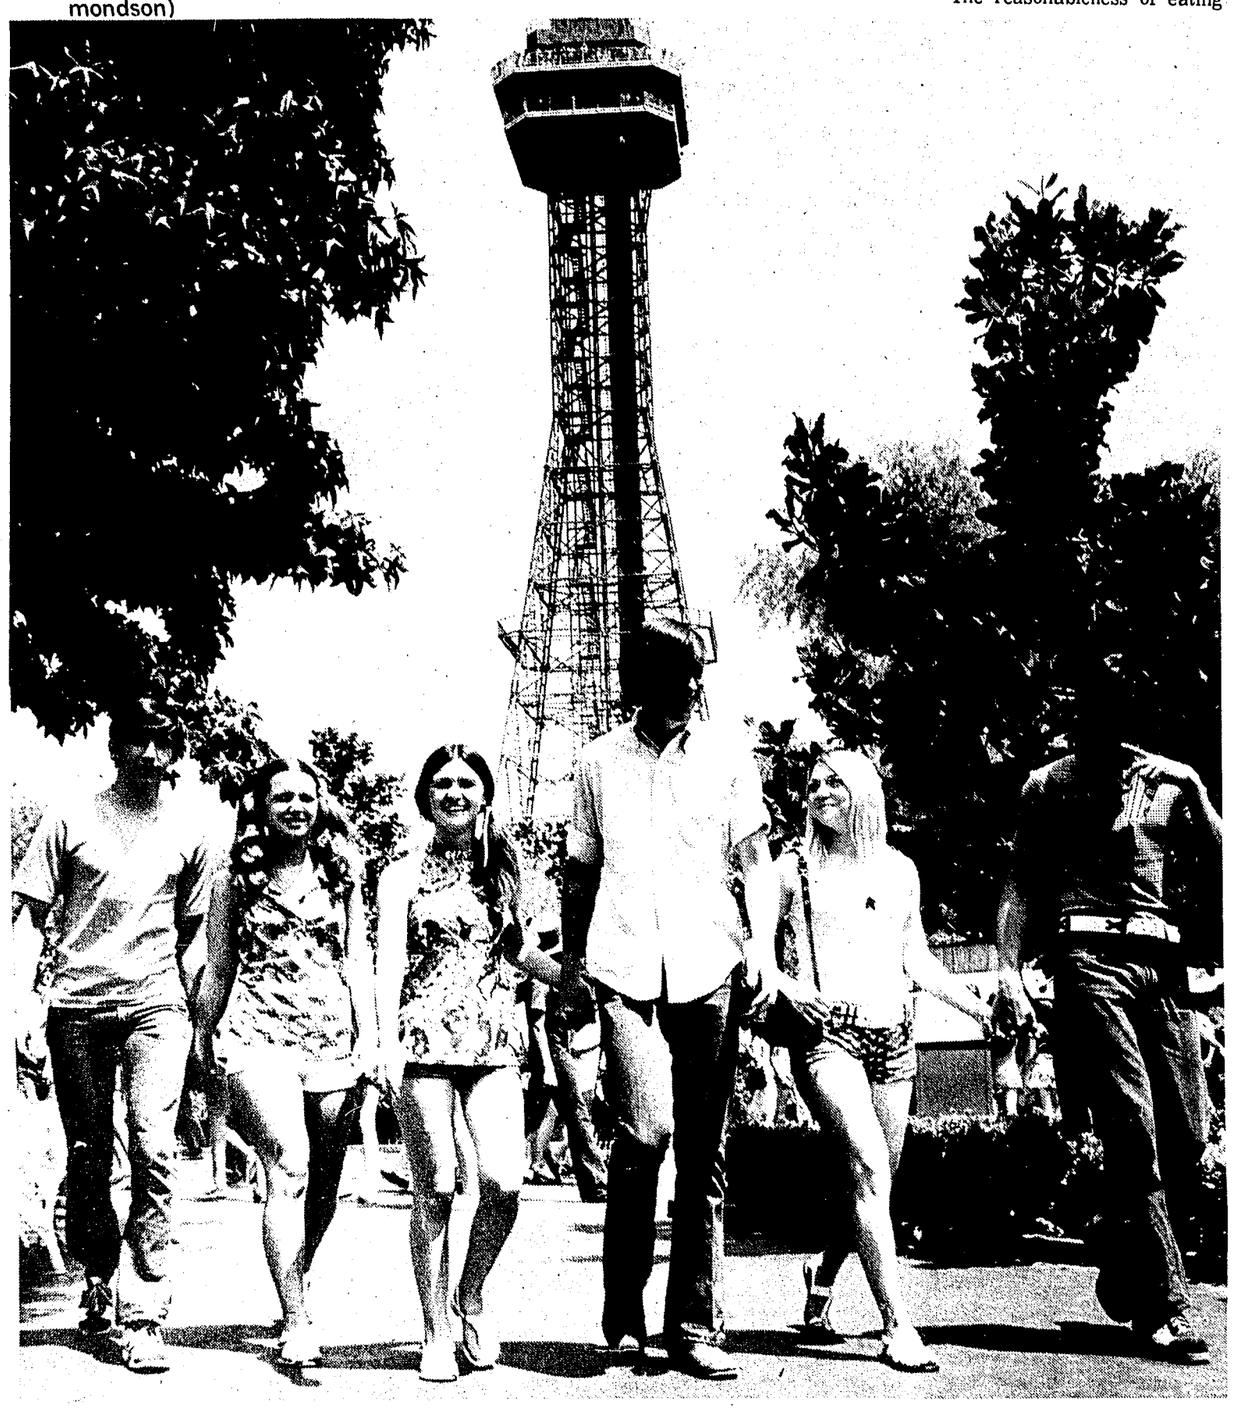

The 13th District Court civil suit filed by the Town of Retreat against W. A. Poe and his wife Connie J. Poe, alleging that they violated the city's zoning ordinance, is still pending a final decision, according to District Judge James C. Sewell.

During a hearing on April 28 in the district courtroom, Sewell asked plaintiff's attorney David Ralston and defense attorney Julius Jacobs to file briefs concerning the case.

Jacobs said today that he filed briefs on the case about 30 days ago.

Ralston commented that his law partner has been out of town and it will probably be another week before they can file briefs for the plaintiff so that Judge Sewell can make his decision.

Poe, owner of several houses in the community, has violated an ordinance which states that all houses within the city limits must be built from the ground up, according to the plaintiff's petition.

Avalon Juniors Top Honor Roll

AVALON (Spl.)—The Avalon school system has announced its honor roll for the last nine weeks and the second semester. 12 students finished both the last quarter and last half with all A's.

Five juniors led the group including Cheryl Berry, Jean Clark, Joan Clark, Becky Farmer and Robin Gorman. They were the only straight-A students in high school. There were two in junior high school, eighth grader Carol Gillespie and seventh grader Buddy Lee.

In the elementary grades, fourth graders Cody Hastings and Russell Worsham and second graders Suzanne Farris, Lester Hammond and Sonja May were the only students to finish the quarter and semester with all A's.
